He thought he was alone in the building. After remaining there at the plano several minutes, however, he was startled by the sound of some one opening the door which led into the room from the hallway to the church auditorium. Turning, he beheld Durrant, pale and apparently exhausted, his hair disheveled and his clothing disarranged. Upon being asked what ailed him, the man who is now on trial for the murder of Blanche Lamont said that while endeavoring to repair the electric wires he had been overcome by the escaping gas. He was so completely overcome, in fact, that he had asked King to go out and purchase some bromo-seltzer for him and King readily complied. King told this story and Durrant, when questioned regarding the matter, admitted the gas story but declared that King had greatly exaggerated the description of his condition.

Since the retirement of juror Brown the selection of four additional jurors for the trial of Durrant has caused the police department a great deal of worry. STATUS OF THE CUBAN WAR

UNITED STATES SEVERELY CRITI-CISED BY THE MAYOR OF HAVANA.

Many Spaniards Reported to Have Been Killed by Insurgents-Railway Train Blown Up.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 15.-The Dispatch prints the following dispatch from Trenton, N. J.: "One of the bloodlest battles that has been fought in British Honduras in many a day," says a letter from Belize, just received, "occurred Aug. 3, at Straun creek and Mullins river, about thirty miles south of Belize. The district there is settled by upward of twenty thousand Caribs, v hose reservations or plantations embrace most of the ground under cultivation. The remainder is occupied principally by Eng-ture at Belize for permission to construct railroads from their plantations through the Carib reservations to the coast. The desired permission was granted and the Surveyor-general was authorized to survey the routes. These English planters claim the proposed improvement will enable them to cut, load and dispatch their fruit to the coast on the day steamers are due. At present they are obliged to cut and send their fruit in dories down the rivers two and three days before the steamers are due, while the Caribs, whose plantations are much nearer the coast, only find it necessary to cut their fruit a day in advance. The result is the Caribs get the highest prices for their fruit on account of its freshness, while the English planters can get little more than half price for theirs, the steamship people claiming that much (especially bananas) of the fruit ripens and even begins to rot before reaching destinations.

"The rails for the proposed railroads arrived from England three or four weeks ago. As soon as the Caribs found it out a number of them went to the English planters and warned them not to put them down upon their reservations if they desired to avoid serious trouble. The English planters laughed and told them to mind their own business, at the same time reminding them that they paid the government $2.50 a year for every acre of land they have under cultivation, while the Caribs are not obliged to pay anything. "In the last week in July the English planters at Straun creek and Mullins river, which places, by the way, adjoin each other, set the majority of their negroes to work constructing the railroads. For several days their work went on well and the English were beginning to think the Caribs meant nothing by their threats, when late in the afternoon of Aug. 3, the Caribs in large numbers, armed with machetes, advanced upon the Jamaica negroes at work upon the railroads and ordered them to take up the rails which they had put down. The Jamaicans not only refused, but threatened to attack the Caribs unless they

"The Caribs went away, but returned in less than an hour to the number of close upon 7,000 and immediately began to tear up the newly laid rails. The in furiated Englishmen, on seeing this done, ordered their negroes to try a little fighting. The moment the Jamaicans raised their weapons the Caribs rushed upon them, and with their macnetes, hacked and chopped the negroes to pieces. Small as their numbers were, the Jamaicans fought bravely and killed many of their antagonists, but they could only stand against the chopped off. The Englishmen used their guns with deadly effect. Between 500 and 600 negroes in all were killed and almost as many injured, while the Caribs had close upon 300 killed and twice as many wounded, some mortally. As soon as the negroes were forced to beat a retreat the Caribs went to work and tore up every foot of rail damaged many of the English plantations and destroyed fruit and rubber, etc., to the value of several thousand dollars.

"The Governor, upon hearing the news, ordered out the local miltary forces. Since the arrival of the soldiers, who numbered 1,500, nothing further, up to the present time of writing (Aug. 6), has occurred. "The Caribs and negroes are doing nothing at present but burying their dead. The Caribs say they will repeat their attack if another attempt is made to by down rails upon their reservation. The Governor has ordered the English planters to proceed whenever they feel disposed with the construction of their railroads, which they are likely to do in the course of a few days. "It is feared that if the Englishmen persist, as they have sworn to do, in putting down their rails on Carib ground, there wil be many more scenes of butchery attended with even greater loss of life. The Englishmen have ordered weapons for their ne-

Mexico May Go to War. The Santa Cruz Indians are filled with dismay because they now realize that their depredations are to be severely punished. Many of those Indians are fleeing to Belize to accept British hospitality among the people who for many years have been furnishing them arms and ammunition. It is not believed that the leaders of the Indians can bring over six hundred into the field against the Mexican troops. Ten thousand Yucatan now employed in cutting dyewoods in Honduras will return to take up arms at Baclar directly the troops succeed in dislodging the hostile Indians now there.

HAVANA'S MAYOR TALKS. He Says the United States Will Get Into Serious Trouble.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. - The Mayor of Havana, Cuba, Senor Alvarez, who is at the Union-square Hotel, says that the insurrection in Cuba is not a serious matter. but that there is danger ahead of trouble between Spain and the United States growing out of the action of the United States government in pressing Spain to pay the Mora claim at this time and of the aid that Americans are extending to Cuban gitators and fillbusters. Senor Alvarez said: "It is a rising of outlaws led by foreigners. The better class of Cubans have nothing to do with it. There are many well-known Cubans who visit the United States every summer during the hot months, who have not come this year for fear they would be compromised by the conspirators, who have their headquarters here. These conspirators demand money of them and threaten to destroy their plantations if it is refused. They are what you call black-mailers or bandits. They are adventurers like Roloff, a Polish Jew, and not a Cuban at all, who go to cigar makers of Key West at all, who go to cigar makers of Key West and other places and obtain their money and go away. Some say Roloff has landed with 1,000 men, guns, ammunition and dynamite. It may be so, but no one in Cuba has seen or heard anything of them.

"The people of the United States should remember that the war in Cuba is not a war between two nations and that they war between two nations, and that they can say: 'We will be neutral.' It is a diffi-culty which one nation is having in its own family, and America should keep her hands off. Americans have nothing to do with any territory outside of their own limits. Americans, however, not only permit foreigners, but allow their own citizens, to conspire against Spanish territory, and Spain is a friendly nation. Are meetings to be held in your cities to raise money for

to be held in your cities to raise money for the avowed purpose of sending war sup-plies to Cuba and expeditions to be fitted out and sailed under the American flag, with no redress for Spain?

"Let me tell you this," continued Senor Alvarez, "the American flag is being used to cover every crime. Spanish officers are getting tired of letting expeditions escape because they sail under the American flag. The day may come when an officer will no The day may come when an officer will no longer permit a vessel to go free through respect for the flag. Something will hap-pen, not to the flag, but to the boat that is spain and there may be trouble between spain and the United States. Another thing we do not like is the insistence that the Mora claim be paid just when Spain needs money for war purposes. The claim itself is unjust and should never be paid. All the arbitrators have decided against it.

Insurgent Chiefs at Outs. HAVANA, Aug. 15 .- According to official reports information which has been received by the government authorities here shows that a serious dissension exists among the insurgent leaders. This is said to be due to the fact that some of them are not willing to destroy by burning or other means the property of planters and others. In this connection, according to the government information, Chief Rabi and Maceo have had an angry dispute and the latter was slightly wounded by the former. According to the reports they had to be separated by their friends in order to avoid

QUEEN VICTORIA'S SPEECH

HER MAJESTY'S ADDRESS READ AND DISCUSSED IN PARLIAMENT.

Speeches by the Opposition Leaders in Both Houses-Marquis of Salisbury on Armenian Ostrages.

LONDON, Aug. 15.-This was a lively day in Parliament. The Queen's address sides made speeches and Dr. Tanner, an Irish member, was temporarily "fired" from the Commons for shouting "A lie." The Standard says that Dr. Tanner, on his own responsibility, had given notice of two hundred motions to reduce the estimates. The Times says that when the division was called on Dr. Tanner's expulsion, numerous Irish members and some of the Radicals quitted the house. Dr. Tanner may use the lobby, the smoking rooms, etc. Only a third expulsion carries with it exclusion from the precincts of the

After the House of Commons reassembled to-day the memebers were summoned malities, and the Queen's speech was read by the Lord Chancellor, Baron Halsbury.

"My Lords and Gentlemen-The communications which I receive from foreign powers assure me of the continuance of their good will. I am happy to say that no international complication has arisen in any quarter calculated to endanger the peace of Europe. The war between China and Japan, which was in progress at the opening of the last session, has been brought to a conclusion by a peace which I trust will endure. I observed strict neutrality during the war and have taken no action in respect thereto except such no action in respect thereto, except such as appeared to me likely to be favorable to a termination of hostilities. I deeply regret to say that most atrocious outrages on a body of English missionaries are re-ported from the province of Fuh-Kien, in China. In reply to carnest representations ddressed to the Chinese gov trust, will prove effective, are being taken for the punishment of the murderers and hese crimes.

"The internal troubles which have broken out in the Armenian districts of Asiatic Turkey have been attended with horrors to indignation the have moved to indignation the Christian nations of Europe generally and my people extendly. My embassador and the embassadors of the Emperor of Russia and the President of the French republic, acting together, have suggested to the government of the Sultan reforms which, in their opinion, are necessary to prevent a recurrence of constant disorder. These proposals are now being considered by the Sultan and I am anxiously awaiting his

The speech concludes with a reference to the incorporation of Bechunaland into Cape Colony. The speech to the Commons merely says that the estimates for the merely says that the estimates for the service of the year which were not voted at the last session will be laid before them. The second portion of the speech says:
"My Lords and Gentlemen—At this reason of the year it will probably be found more convenient to defer to mother session the consideration of any important legislative measures except those are necessary to provide for the istrative charges of the year." THE CASE OF MICHAEL DALY. After adjournment, the House of Com mons met again, at 4 o'clock, and the formal business in connection with the Queen's speech was disposed of. Then Sir Richard Webster, Conservative, formerly Attorney-general, moved that a certified copy of the trial and conviction of Michael Daly, the dynamiter, who was recently elected to Parliament, representing Limerick, although he was convicted, in 1884, of having been engaged in dynamite conspiracies, be furnished to the House, and that the governor of Portland prison present a certificate to the effect that Daly is still a

Mr. John Redmond, member of Waterford City, Parnellite, said that he recognized in the motion the first step in proceedings aiming at overriding the unanimous election of Daly by the electors of Limerick. He protested against it, and insisted upor

At the conclusion of Mr. Reamond's remarks, Dr. Charles K. D. Tanner, member for the Middle division of Cork, anti-Parnellite, and one of the whips of the Irish Nationalist party, protested that servative leader in the House of Commons, to be "sniggering" at Mr. Redmon!'s remarks. Dr. Tanner created quite a scene. He was intensely excited, and said that beore a decision in the Daly matter was arrived at he would call the attention of the House to the indecorous behavior of the gentleman who was the leader of the gentleman who was the leader of the House and the gentleman who sits beside him. Continuing Dr. Tanner remarked that when men stand up and do their best for a poor man who is in prison, that is no reason why "the gentlemen sitting on the Treasury benches should snigger and sneer in a way unbecoming of gentlemen or of members of the House." Dr. Tanner's remarks were interrupted by loud cries of "Order." Sir Richard Webster's motion was finally carried by a vote of 314 to 77. The Daly matter was made the order of the day for

Mr. Thomas Wodehouse Leigh, memb for the Southwest division of Lancashir Conservative, moved to reply to the Queen's speech, saying there was not much to crit-cise in it. Mr. Herbert Robertson, member for Hackney, Conservative, seconded the

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the leaof the opposition, congratulated Mr. Leigh for touching on Armenia, and said he trusted the question would not be allowed o sleep and that the government would b firm in insisting on the reforms which i sition leader then said he wished to know whether the government intended to per-manently occupy Chitral and challenged the government to say whether it was pre-pared to extend the boundaries of the em-pire without informing Parliament. In re-gard to Ireland, Sir William Harcourt re-marked that the late government unfortu-nately was unable to settle the great queson in connection with that country. Irein adjourning for six months without exagreed with the opposition leader's remarks in regard to Armenia, and said the government was doing its best to carry out the policy of the Earl of Kimberly, the late Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. The government, he continued, is alive to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. The government, he continued, is elive to the seriousness of events in that country and to the danger of the Turkish empire. As to the Chitral possession, Mr. Balfour said that the right bosorable gentleman's criticisms of the course of the government in this connection were not well founded. The government has not extended the boundaries of the empire, but Chitral, being within its boundaries, England would not permit any lodgement of a foreign power in that quarter. The population of Chitral must look to England alone as the great power. In regard to Ireland Mr. Balfour power. in regard to Ireland Mr. Balfour said there did not appear to be any press-ing anxiety to bring forward land legislaion before next session.

Mr. Radmond moved an amendment t eclare that there would be no delay in heir Irish policy. Five-sixths of the elec-ors of Ireland had decided in favor of me rule, and he protested that the verdiet of the election was not against he rule. He warned the government that I land would not be satisfactorily gover from Wesminster and that the only remedy for her ills was national self-government. Regarding the land legislation hadmitted that the only remedy was compulsory purchase by the tenant.
